

OA Digital are pleased to announce the release of Portable GIS version 2, which now comes with enterprise-level support. Portable GIS is a full suite of desktop and web-based GIS packages that runs entirely on a USB stick, enabling it to be deployed rapidly and without setup or configuration in a variety of situations, from research to disaster management. If you would like support deploying this in your organisation, including customisation and branding, then click here for more details.